

Student Loan Exit Counseling Requirement

While attending New Mexico Junior College you received Federal Direct Stafford Student Loan(s). Federal regulations require you to complete loan exit counseling upon graduation or if your enrollment at NMJC drops below half-time status. Because you meet one of these criteria, you are required to complete loan exit counseling. Exit counseling can be completed online at <http://www.studentloans.gov>. You will log into this website using the same FSA ID and password you use to complete your FAFSA. Select the option for Complete Counseling, Exit Counseling and then select Start and follow the process through to completion. NMJC will be notified once the counseling session has been completed. A hold has been placed on your account that will prevent the release of your transcript and will prevent your eligibility for future financial aid until the exit counseling has been completed.

You will also find these websites to be valuable resources regarding student loan repayment:
