President New Mexico Junior College

Where did the Jeanne Clery Act come from?

Connie and Howard Clery were returning home from a trip on April 5, 1986 and were surprised to see a police car waiting in their driveway. Their thoughts immediately raced to a tripped alarm or Howard's elderly mother. Never did they think that something could have happened to Jeanne because, as Connie describes years later, "she was in the safest place she could have been."

In the early morning hours, Jeanne was raped and murdered in her residence hall by another student whom she did not know. She was 19 years old.

"I knew I had to do something"

In the very beginning, right after Jeannie's death, [My friend] and I were talking the week after the funeral. She asked, "Connie what are you going to do?" I said, "I don't know, I don't know. But I know that what happened to Jeanne could have happened to anyone, because she was in the safest place she possibly could have been... That's when I decided I was going to try to make college campuses safer... That was the beginning."

Connie and Howard began to press for legislation that would make colleges and universities safer. They began at a state level, passing the first campus safety law in Pennsylvania in 1988. Their advocacy took them across the country, working hand-in-hand with victims and their families. In 1990, their work culminated in the passing of the federal Crime Awareness and Campus Security Act, today known as the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act.

Clery Act History (1990-2017)

1990: Required institutions of higher education participating in federal student aid programs to disclose 3 year's worth of campus crime statistics and security policies.

1991: Changed initial collection of statistics from September 1, 1991 to August 1, 1991 and changed crime statistics reporting period from school year to calendar year.

1992: Broadened sexual assault reporting and added required sexual assault policy statements. Specified effective dates of initial collection and dissemination requirements.

1998: Expanded crime categories that must be reported, added geographical breakdown, expanded definition of campus, expanded reporting of hate-crimes, added public crime log, and named law after Jeanne Clery.

2000: Added notice of where public sex offender registration information about offenders on-campus may be obtained.

2008: Required statement of emergency response and evacuation procedures in annual security report and emergency notifications on campus, expanded hate crime statistics reported and statement of policy on law enforcement authority of campus personnel, established safeguards for “whistleblowers.”

2013: Officials handling disciplinary proceedings would be required to receive annual training, and campus crime reports would be expanded to include domestic/dating violence and stalking. Addition of ongoing prevention programs for domestic/dating violence and stalking. Defined policies in place for handling of domestic/dating violence and stalking.

Starting from scratch:

While the Clerys were working on Capitol Hill, they also were spearheading the beginnings of a nonprofit organization, one which would act as a watchdog, ensuring that colleges and universities would adhere to the law accurately.

The Clery’s home served as the first office of Security On Campus, where an assistant worked off of Connie’s high school typewriter, before they moved to a more permanent office space. At Security On Campus, the staff worked side by side with students, families, and university administrators to file Clery Act complaints against colleges and universities.

NEW MEXICO JUNIOR COLLEGE

New Mexico Junior College is the first community college to open in the State of New Mexico. It is located in extreme south east New Mexico and was founded in 1965. NMJC has a combined enrollment of over 3,000 students and employs more than 350 full and part time staff and faculty members.

EMERGENCY OPERATION PLAN

NMJC has adopted a comprehensive Emergency Operation Plan. Part of the plan includes an extensive Emergency Notification System. This system includes emergency notification speakers that are located in classrooms, hallways and exteriors of campus buildings. NMJC also uses the Rave Emergency notification system which allows the college to immediately notify students and employees via text messaging, email as well as other social media methods of emergency notification.

These systems will be used to, immediately and without delay, notify the campus community upon the confirmation of a significant emergency or dangerous situation involving an immediate threat to the health or safety of students or staff on campus, as defined by the Clery Act.

Warnings may only be withheld if they would compromise efforts to contain the emergency.

CAMPUS SAFETY

All NMJC Employees have been trained and identified as Campus Security Authorities. They are trained in what do to help persons who report crimes or request assistance. In any case, all these persons will assist you by contacting NMJC Campus Safety Officers.

CRIME AND FIRE LOG

Institutions with a police or security department are required to maintain a public crime log documenting the "nature, date, time, and general location or each crime" and its disposition if known. Institutions that have campus housing are also required to maintain a campus fire log. New Mexico Junior College maintains a campus Crime and Fire Log as mandated by the Clery Act. For access to either log contact the on-duty Campus Safety Officers by calling 575-399-2033.

COLLEGE POLICIES FOR REPORTING CRIME OR EMERGENCIES

Witnesses and or victims of criminal actions, suspicious incidents, illnesses and other emergencies are strongly encouraged to report such events to NMJC Campus Safety Officers.
